Fondazione Centesimus Annus Pro Pontifice (FCAPP) is a lay Vatican-based organization founded by Pope Saint John Paul the Great. Centesimus Annus Pro Pontifice, Inc. is its affiliate in the United States. This is an application to join both organizations (described collectively as “CAPP” in this application).

Membership in CAPP is open to practicing Catholics in good standing. There is an annual membership fee of $500 (or $600 for a married couple) 40% of which goes to support the international work of CAPP at the Vatican. Applications require a letter from your pastor attesting to good standing in the Church and a curriculum vitae. Membership in CAPP is not guaranteed and requires joint and sequential approval from the CAPP boards in the USA and the Vatican. While full acceptance takes several months, applicants are invited to be engaged throughout, including joining all national events and international conferences in Rome.
